February 21, 2016 As we all well know, we have become a nation of addicts, which is why we are constantly racing to find ways to "beat" our addictions. But what is it that we are really addicted to? What keeps us constantly in our endless search for something to satisfy our addictions? Why do we find ourselves turning to our addictions when we are already hooked? Here are the eight main addictions from which we all struggle and what they mean. 1.Addiction to food, mainly junk food Tobacco and alcohol, I won't even get started on those, and next! Let's talk about food. What do we have to eat that is so addictive? Mostly junk food, even though we find ourselves constantly searching for something new, we find ourselves switching to these while we are already hooked. This is the biggest addiction that we have. It gives us this feeling of peace and it's not a feeling, it is a need. 2.Addiction to Twitter This is another addiction which we all face. Twitter is a social media site used to connect to all your followers, where you can virtually connect to anybody anywhere in the world and gain support, advice and approval from people whom you probably never met or even talked to. What is more addictive than that? 3. Addiction to reading We all know and we are all addicted to books. It is the number one addiction and it helps us escape to another world. People never stop reading, that is a fact. Reading has

Twister HD .Analysis of the gamma-ray burst 981223 measured by the BATSE experiment: an upper limit on the distance. We report the results of an analysis of the gamma-ray burst with measured redshift of 0.97. The light curve is not well-described by single- or broken-power law models, suggesting multiple temporal components. The inter-peak time scales are 1.4, 1.7 and 3.7 s. The steepness parameter,  $d$  of the best-fit broken power law, is 3.5 in the 4-20 keV band. The spectral evolution in the 0.1-40 keV band can be divided into three segments: first a power-law tail with index 2.11, then a soft-plateau with index 1.84 and finally a second power-law tail with index 2.40. It is not possible to obtain any meaningful constraints on the source's emission properties from the BATSE data alone. The flux upper limit is  $2.8 \times 10^{10}$  ergs  $s^{-1}$  in the 50-300 keV band. We derive the conservative lower limit of 6.2 Mpc on the source's distance. We
